

Mosquito Control Technology

GovPilot Benefits Government and Citizens

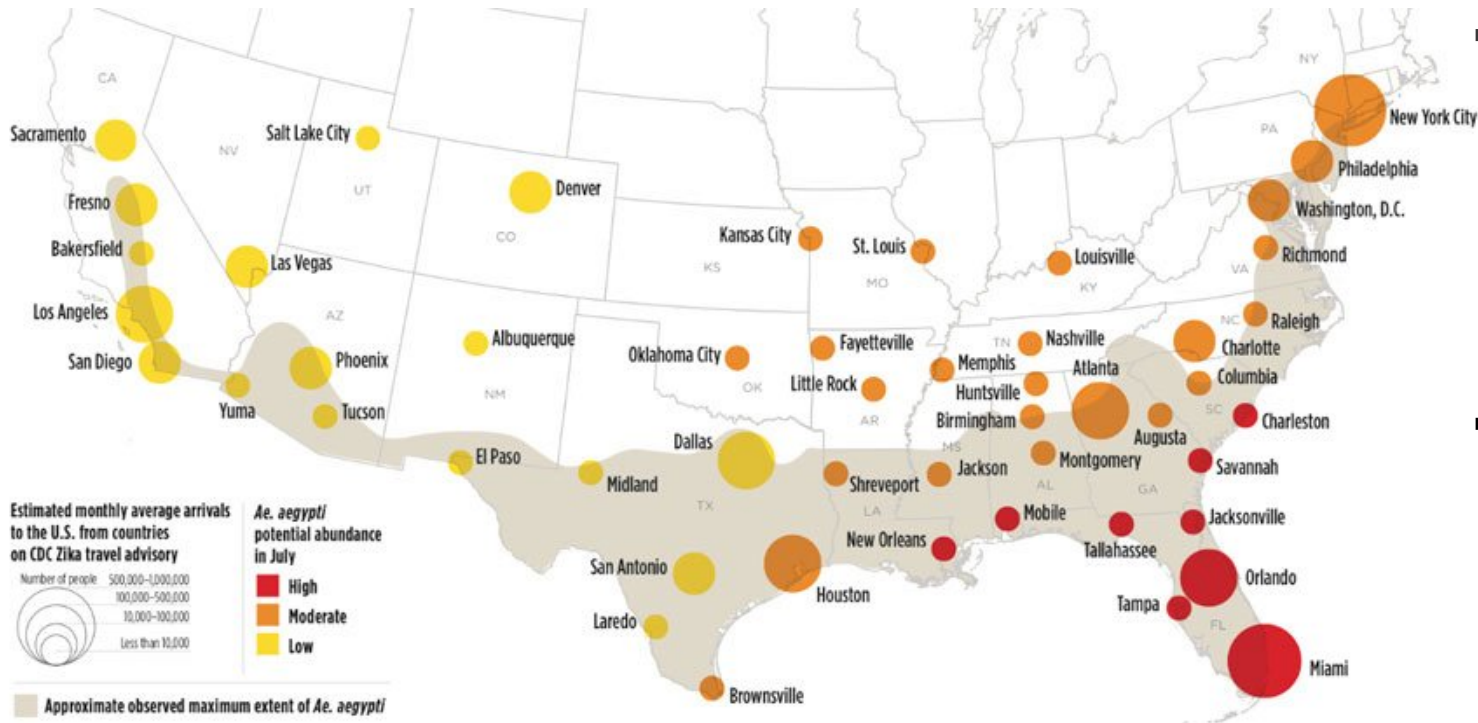

Choose from 100+ customizable templated processes

- Web-based Management Platform
- Designed for local government
- Replaces paper processes with digital automation
- Unifies fragmented data
- Manage and share data 24/7, from any device/location

The Zika Pandemic

GovPilot helped local governments rise to the occasion

- In early 2016, the WHO declared the rapid spread of the mosquito-borne Zika virus a Public Health Emergency of International Concern
- Existing features such as digital forms, automated workflows and GIS mapping integration were applied to mosquito prevention initiatives

Mosquito Control Success Story

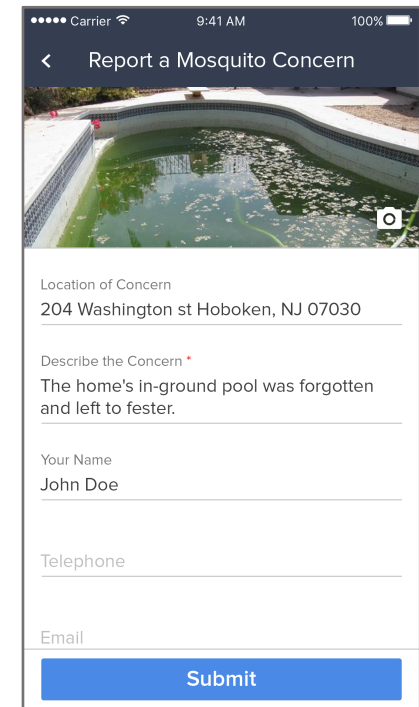

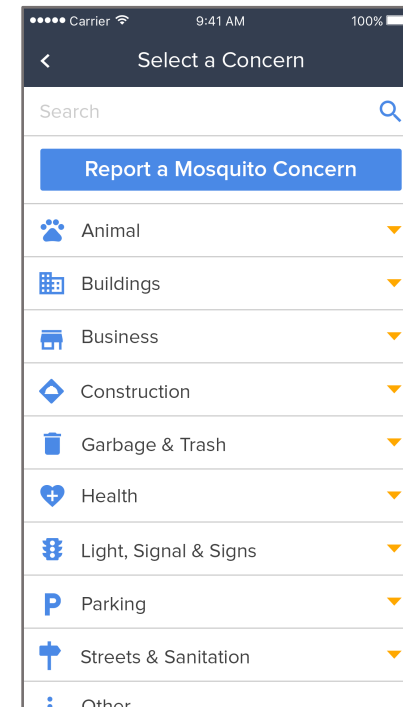

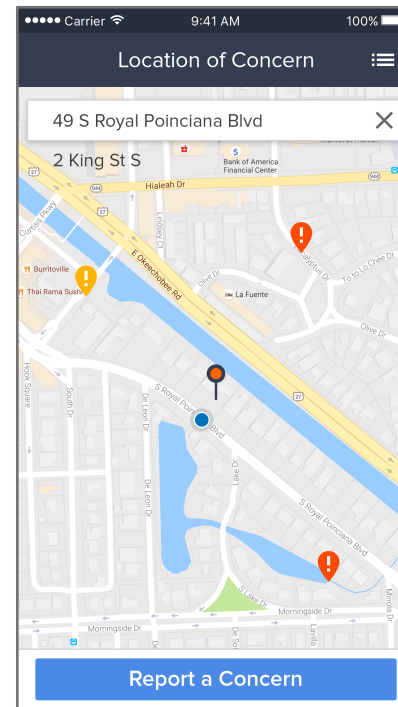

Camden County, NJ's Zika Prevention Initiative

- Camden County's website features a "Report a Mosquito Issue in Your Town" form
- Accessible through the official website via a mobile, desktop or laptop device
- Form prompts residents to disclose details of local mosquito infestation
- Automation guarantees mosquito-related concerns reach Camden County's government and are addressed swiftly, transparently and effectively

Introducing GovAlert

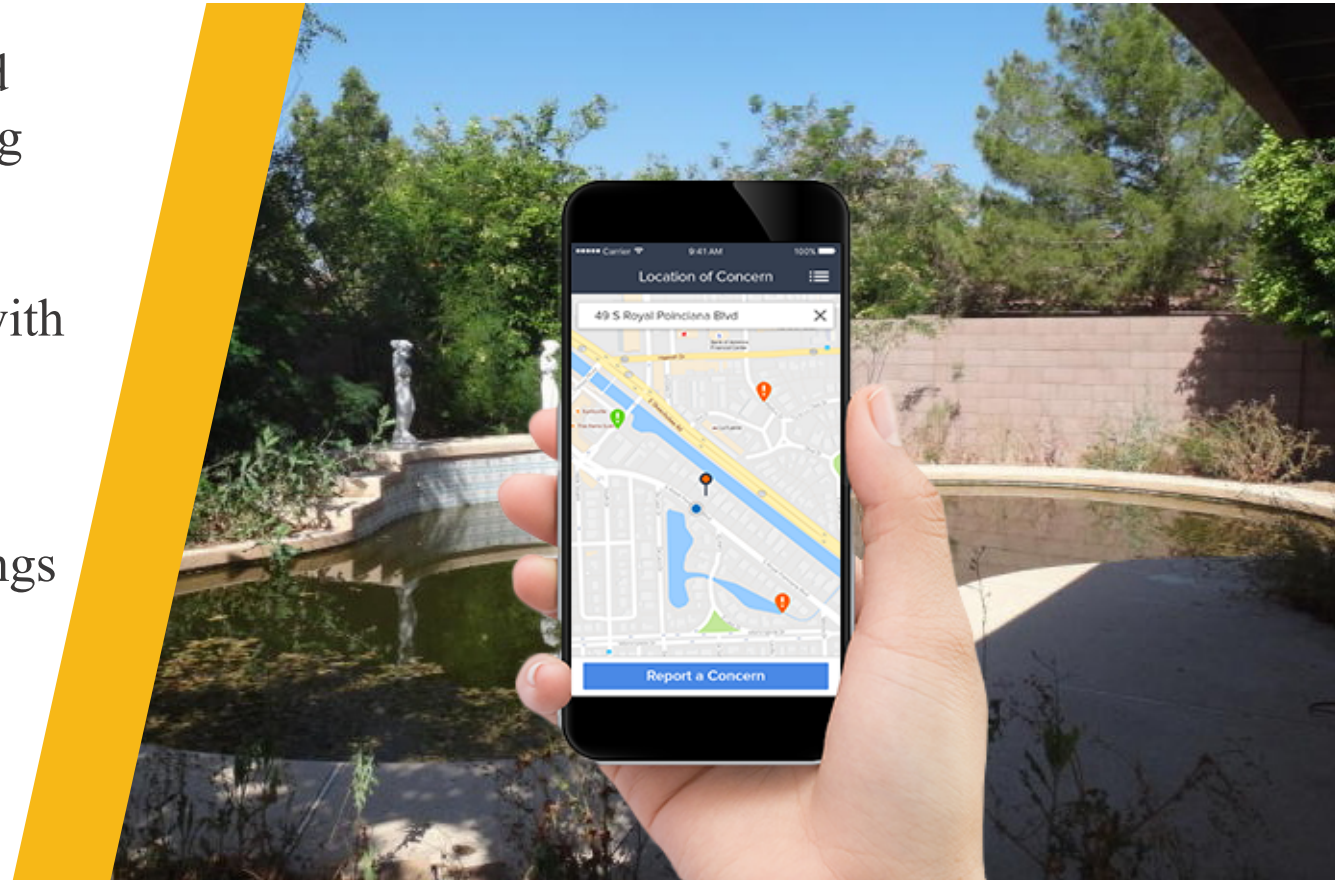

- The success of GovPilot's web-based Mosquito Control software inspired our team to create a mobile app
- Coming soon to Android and iOS, GovAlert empowers constituents to voice concerns to government officials with unprecedented immediacy and convenience

How GovAlert Works

Turn concerned citizens into allies in the war against mosquitoes

- Users snap a picture of a heap of garbage, neglected swimming pool or other potential mosquito breeding ground
- They have the option of supplementing the image with descriptive text
- In a tap or two, the concern is sent to their local government, as determined by device location settings

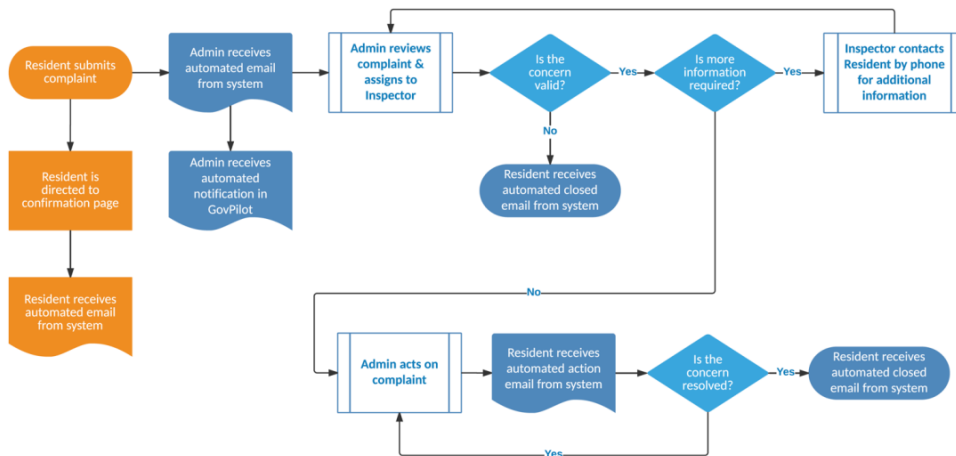

Mosquito Reporting with GovAlert or GovPilot Online

- The appropriate government official receives the alert in real time and can begin to take action immediately.
